

MRS. JAMES LEE SHELTON, of Richmond, who with her son, David Porter Guest, and Mrs. Isaac Pearson, of Washington, D. C., is spending the winter in Rome at the Hotel d'Italie, is having a very brilliant time. On January 31, Queen Elena held her first drawing-room for two years. There were no presentations last year, owing to the Messina disaster, and none the year before on account of court mourning. The list of those to be presented was crowded, and Ambassador Lelshman could only add two names this season, Mrs. Shelton and Miss Gatewood, also of Virginia, being favored. The notice that Her Majesty Queen Elena would receive Mrs. Shelton Monday, January 31, at 3 P. M. came in the early morning of that day. It was on the stationery of the crown and was signed by Contessa di Trinita, lady-in-waiting to the Queen, and in one corner was the royal "visiting costume with hat." Mrs. Shelton wore a handsome blue velvet gown, with large black velvet hat trimmed in white spray plumes, and wore pearl ornaments.

The many magnificent rooms of the palace were thrown open and all brilliantly lighted and elaborately decorated in palms and flowers. The Queen stood in the center of a large oval against a background of palms and azaleas. She wore a shimmering blue gown and received each guest alone and chatted cordially in French. After the presentation and a word or two with the Countess di Trinita, the guests were ushered into the banquet hall, where afternoon tea was served. Mrs. Shelton also attended the court ball, which took place on the evening of February 7, concerning which an Italian paper says:

"After two years the ballroom of the Quirinal has been opened again for the first time to be given this year. The beautiful stairways and halls, decorated with plants and flowers and blazing with light, were filled with a great throng of beautiful women and noblemen, happy and proud to be received by the first of Italian gentlemen and the true queen of Italian women, whose elegant gown and jewels and diadem with all their beauty were the most and dim compared with the grace of her own person and the beauty of her character."

"No other court in the world has just such a couple as its centre as has ours in Rome."

"At their receptions are to be seen the diplomatic representatives of all the powers of the world, the leaders of Italy in politics, administration and intellect. Besides these are many private individuals of other countries who have been favored by being received. And any one may be proud of the honor of being presented, for this favor is not conferred indiscriminately. The court of Italy has set a standard of character higher than that recognized in some other courts."

The first week in February was carnival week and filled with numerous and handsome entertainments. On February 2, Mrs. Shelton and Mrs. Pearson attended a tea in costume given at the Hotel d'Italie by Mrs. Kate Greenleaf Locke, the well known writer for Century and McClure's; Mrs. J. Scott Hartley, wife of the New York sculptor; Mrs. R. L. Lyman and Mrs. Gilbert Colgate, of New York.

Quantities of palms, ferns and pink azaleas adorned the rooms, which were lighted by candles with dainty silk shades.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Paul G. Brock, wore a handsome gown of white material with an overdress of hand-embroidered tulle. Touches of rose point and ducness lace adorned the bodice, and her long tulle veil was arranged with a wreath of lilies of the valley. She carried a shower bouquet of orchids and lilies of the valley.

WATCH THE COMPLEXION

Entirely Cleared After a Few Applications of Poslam.

Where it goes is evidently not a very serious matter as long as the little red spot, blemish or other skin disfigurement disappears as quickly as it does after a few applications of poslam, the new skin remedy. A peculiar feature of poslam is that it is naturally flesh-colored and contains no grease, so that when used on the face for the complexion, or for pimples, red noses, or any other inflammation, blemishes, or discolorations, its presence cannot be detected. It can thus be applied in the daytime, the natural color of the skin being immediately restored, and the actual healing and curing process accomplished in a few days. Poslam can be had of any pharmacist who sells pure drugs. Tragle's drug store makes a specialty of it. Fifty cents' worth will answer either for the troubles mentioned or in curing ordinary cases of eczema. Itching stops at once.

Any one who will write to the Emergency Laboratories, No. 32 West Twenty-fifth Street, New York, can secure by mail, free of charge, a supply sufficient to cure a small eczema surface or clear a complexion over night and remove pimples in twenty-four hours.

Chewing will spend their honeymoon in the South. A number of relatives and friends left yesterday for Hoboken to be present at the marriage, which will be a very brilliant social event.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Pinehurst, N. C., February 19.—Never has Pinehurst known a merrier week, interest centering in a cotillion at the Carolina and a fancy dress ball at the Hotel Raleigh, in which were enjoyed by the entire village.

Several novelties made the cotillion one of the most entertaining ever held here. Among them, "The Frog Who Would a-Wooing Go," in which six noisy, hopping young men, wearing huge frog heads, and grouped around a "pond," were fished for by six young women, and "My Sweetheart's the Man in the Moon," in which young men, wearing moons, were claimed as partners by young women wearing miniature moon rockets, each bearing a number corresponding with one worn by the men. A cakewalk also won round after round of applause; the winners being Mr. D. Pierce, of Rochester, N. Y., and Mrs. Harriet Horton, of New York; E. J. Scofield, Jr., of Stamford, and Miss Priscilla Beall, of Uniontown, Pa.; and Gardner, of Chicago, and Miss Ruby Sewall, of Kansas City. The division of the cake, however, was not an easy task, for it proved to be only a thin, turned bottom side up and lavishly decorated. The favors included heart ornaments, heart wands and feather windmills, interior fans and orders, Gypsy bonnets
